Moved Into New Quarters.

Robert B. Powell, fancy grocer, has moved into the store room recently vacated by Thomas Brothers. The place has been refitted and newly painted and presents a neat and handsome appearance. The shelves have been made to conform to the size of bottled goods and package goods (cereal goods of all kinds) and to economize space. The place is light and airy, having front and rear doors and windows, and is every way admirably suited to the business.

In the rear is a large storage house with a capacity almost as great as the main store room. Here goods are kept in bulk-meats, flour, hay, grain, oats, shipstuffs, bran, &c.

Mr. Powell carries a first-class stock and caters to the best trade in his line. His goods are high class, fresh and pure, and the prices are always within reason. He handles almost everything one may call for in the way of staple and fancy groceries, canned and bottled goods, cereal foods, fruits, confectioneries, &c. SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION

Mr. Eugene Betts, While Out Hunting Held at Middleburg for the Purpose of Organizing the Interdenominational Sunday-School Association.

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25th, upon call of the county chairman, C. A. Lewis, a Sunday-school convention was held in the M. E. Church at Middleburg to organize the interdenominational Sundayschool Association of that township. The meeting was called to order by for a day's sport in the field, rabbitt hunting and to shoot birds. They were accompanied by four colored cuss the feasibility of organizing a branch boys who went along to handle the ship and if the way be clear to proceed to the organization. In a few practical words he explained the nature and purpose of the State Sunday-school Associawere hunting near there when the ac- tion, the good work it is doing for the ident occurred. Searing up a rab- spread and the improvement of Sundaybitt Mr. Crockett fired at it but schools, mentioned the rapid progress the Association has made till it well nigh covers the entire State, and explaining those features of modern and improved Sunday-school work which the effect in the back of his neck cutting Association emphasizes and seeks to introduce into all the schools of the State; such as Normal Department, Home Department, Cradle Roll, etc.

A brief address was made by the Rev. those unfortunate accidents liable to James H. Henderlite, of the Henderson Presbyterian church, on the supreme importance of the Sunday-school as an evangelistic agency, and in the moulding and development of character and capacity for Christian service. Upon motion it was heartily and unanimously decided carrying out this purpose, however, to organize an association embracing all the Sunday-schools of the township, and the following earnest and efficient corps of officers was elected:

President-Mr. L. R. Crocker. Secretary and Treasurer-Mr. J. H. Paschall

Chairman of Home Department-Mr. R. T. Spain. Chairman of Primary Department-Mrs. H. F. Rowland.

The Ideal Gift.

The season of gift-giving-Christmas and New Year's-is near at hand. You may be puzzled to know what sort of gift to make to friend or relative. It depends somewhat upon the person to be remembered. But if a grown person, whether male or female, no more suitable gift could be picked out than Waterman's "Ideal" fountain pen. This is the ideal gift for self or friend for birthday, Christmas, New Year's or any other time. Waterman's "Ideal" is the best fountain pen made, by the largest manufacturers of fountain pens in the world. It is handier than a pencil because you don't have to sharpen it. Quicker than a regular pen, because you don't have to dip Cleaner than either, because it neither crocks nor spills. Better than all others, because it is ready when you are. The best present, because it brings happiness and comfort to every one who receives it causing them to hold the giver in loving remembrance daily as long as it lasts W. W. Parker, druggist and stationer, sells Waterman's Ideal fountain pens. A variety of styles and prices to select from, both ladies' and gentlemen's sizes. tiful illustrations-many in tint-and amiable fiction; and is all aglow with the spirit of truce time. The "Christmas Chimes," of Margaret Cameron, is a delightful comedy, permeated with the fragrance of holly and the warmth of yule-log—and love. "Ellie's Furnishing" is a new story by Helen Reimensuyder Martin, dealing with a little soul-struggle of two (need it be said, a youth and a maiden?) conscientious New Mennonites. In contrast with the tranquil sweetness of these stories are Colin McKay's "Coming on the Coast," full of the strain and struggle and heroism of man battling the elements; and "The Call," by James Hop-per, a strange, weird story of the Philippines. For those that like humor un-Pancakes," and Sidney C. Kendall's "On the trail of the Serpent." Among the articles—and no matter how many good short stories there are, a number of Mc-Clure's always has stinging articles that one cannot tear to pieces—are Miss Tar-bell's resumation of her tranquil and damning expose of Standard Oil moral turpitude; and Ray Stannard Baker's "Lone Fighter," a true story of men that fight for honesty and cleanliness against the active ill-will of the dishonest and corrupt and the passive skepticism of the "good citizen." La Farge begins his series on a "Hundred Masterpieces of Painting," by a splendid article on "Por-traits of Civic Life;" and Clara Morris has a scintillating chat about Ellen Terry and Mrs. John Drew.
